

SEMI-WEEKLY SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM - Editor.
FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1885.

Victor Hugo, the great French poet, is dying, at Paris, France.

The Herald-Enterprise says Russellville's great need is a street sprinkler.

The revised translation of the old Testament has been given to the public.

The seventeen year locusts have put in an appearance at Bridgeport, Ill.

President Zaldivar has resigned the Presidency of the Central American State of Salvador and Gen. Figarona has been elected in his stead.

The New York World has succeeded in raising by private subscription a Barholdt Pedestal fund of over $50,000, half of the amount needed to provide the pedestal for the statue, which has arrived from France.

The Illinois Senate is after the corporations. It has passed a bill taxing telephone companies three per cent of their gross receipts in the State and have fixed the maximum rent of a telephone at $3 per month.

Late English papers describe two torpedo boats now being built for the Austrian Government by Messrs. Farrow & Co., on the Thames. They are 135 feet long, 13 1/2 feet wide and are expected to attain the remarkable speed of 24 knots an hour when light, and 22 knots, over 25 miles, when loaded and ready for action.

It may be giving too much credit to the members of the Illinois Legislature to admit that, notwithstanding they make up the biggest side-show of mental freaks on record, none of them could be bribed in the Senatorial contest, although great quantities of "bottle" were brought to bear to buy votes. The Illinois statesman may be the thickest headed of fools, but he seems to be honest.—Louisville Commercial.

Senator Blackburn has declared open war upon the President. He has sent a note to each of the departments authorizing the cancellation of his name from all petitions for office he has signed. He has announced that he will not ask anything else of the Administration, as he has secured nothing so far. Brother Jim's sad fate was the straw that broke the camel's back. It is too bad, too bad, that President Cleveland is not to have the endorsement and good will of Mr. Blackburn.

The Revised Old Testament will prove a greater failure than that of the New. How much better is "vanity and striving after wind" than "vanity and vexation of spirit," and who would not prefer "wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging" to "wine is a mocker, strong drink is a brawler?" and where is the sense in changing the old translation, "There were giants on the earth in those days," to "The nephelim were on the earth in those days?" The old edition is good enough for this office and we shall continue to use it with our usual industry.—Interior Journal.

The Washington specials say that it is now well understood that sweeping changes will be made after next month in regard to office-holders. The letter of Mr. Vilas, in our last issue, indicated the course he will pursue and Republicans will suffer the same fate in all the departments. The Cabinet is agreed upon the point that a Democratic Reform administration can't be successfully conducted with the same corrupt employees who have held on under the old regime. As soon as the fiscal year ends and the vacancies now existing are attended to, the work of substituting Democrats for Republicans will be begun and carried on until the Augean stables have been thoroughly cleaned out. New men in accord with the administration will be put into all places not subject to the rules of civil service reform and even in these, removals for cause will be made wherever causes exist. Republican office-holders may prepare themselves for the worst if the latest announcement is authoritatively made.

The June number of the Cottage Heart opens with a poem by Edith M. Thomas. This lady's literary work grows steadily in delicacy and power. It seems but a few months ago that her modest verses began to attract attention in the Atlantic Monthly, while at present her volume, "A New Year's Masque," and her occasional magazine poems hold a well-deserved place among the works of the first American writers. Facing Miss Thomas' poem is a frontispiece of real beauty, representing a young girl gathering four-leaved clovers, with her lover looking on. Mrs. A. M. Diaz shows at her best in the new Bedquilt Stories, which the publishers of the Cottage Heart were fortunate in securing last January. The illustrated article of the number, by Willis Boyd Allen, describes the adventure of the writer and a delightful little "Polly," among the Catskill Mountains. The engravings are finely executed, and range, in subject, over the whole Rip Van Winkle country. Miss Olive E. Dana contributes a fine paper, with portraits, on Alice and Phoebe Cary. Prizes are offered and awarded to the younger readers. Poems, sketches, music, and matters of home interest make up a number, full of good things from beginning to end.

FOREIGN NEWS.

EGYPTIAN MATTERS.

DONGOLA, May 19.—The British evacuation of the Sudan commences next Thursday. Merchants and civilians are already leaving, fearing to remain after the departure of the troops. The thermometer in this region averages now 114 in the shade. El Mahdi's General, Abu Angua, who was defeated at Kordofan, afterward, with his surviving soldiers, joined the ranks of the New Mahdi, his conqueror.

SICKNESS DRIVES THEM OUT.

SAKUM, May 19.—It is considered imperative to reduce the British garrison here to the minimum consistent with the safety of the town, because of the rapid increase of sickness, especially enteric fever. The Shropshire regiment will remain as a permanent garrison. It is intended to keep the railway open to Otato by means of a train carrying artillery. Negotiations with the friendly natives have been concluded. Many will come in to-morrow, with Mahmod Ali, the leader of the Amaras.

INDIAN CRUELITIES IN BRITISH AMERICA.

WINNIPEG, May 19.—No intelligence has yet been received of the arrival of Middleton's men at Prince Albert, but it is supposed they are at that point long before now. It is expected they will proceed from there to Battleford by steamer. If the water is high, the journey could be made in three or four days.

Letters from Edmonson says Mrs. Delang, one of the Frog Lake captives, was outraged till she died, and her body then cut to pieces by squaws. Mrs. Gowantocke, another captive, has been taken possession of by one of the young Indians as his wife. Nothing has been heard of the fate of the McLean family, but it is supposed to be a horrible one.

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

LONDON, May 19.—The Standard says that dispatches from the Indian Government represent the Ameer as profoundly depressed at the success of the Russians and England's failure to restrain Russian aggression. The Ameer is convinced of his powerlessness to resist the invasion, and seems half disposed to buy off Russia. Trustworthy reports from Cabul, the Standard says, state that the Ameer is sending his best troops and armaments into Afghan-Turkestan, where he hopes the loyalty of his own people will prove a sufficient safeguard.

LOOKS MORE WARLIKE.

LONDON, May 21.—The morning papers unanimously express the opinion that the detention of the guards at Alexandria and of the Australian contingent at Aden is on account of the attitude of Russia, and that there is a serious obstacle in the way of completing the negotiations for peace.

RUMORED COLLAPSE OF NEGOTIATIONS.

St. PETERSBURG, May 21.—Rumors are current to the effect that the Anglo-Russian negotiations have collapsed. It is believed, however, that the rumors originated with a war party.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

LA LIBERTAD, May 20.—Yesterday, after five hours of sanguinary fighting at the town of Armenia, in San Salvador, the San Salvadorian army routed the revolutionists and captured a large quantity of arms and cannons. The revolutionists are led by Meudex. The arms and guns captured were supplied him by Guatemala. Many prisoners were taken by the San Salvadorians, who are in full pursuit of the retreating insurgents.

Logan Re-elected.

Everybody realized last Tuesday that the time for decisive action had come in the Illinois Legislature and that a Senator would be elected. Every member of the Assembly was present, 103 Republicans and 101 Democrats. The Democrats at first refused to vote but when the two disaffected Republicans voted for Logan, they attempted to defeat Logan by voting for Farwell, Rep., but to no avail and Logan received on the final ballot all the Republican votes and the vote of one Democrat. The contest has been the most remarkable one in the history of any state, and lasted for over four months. The assembly was a tie on joint ballot at first. A Republican died and the vacancy was filled by a Republican. Then a Democrat died and the vacancy was filled by the election of a Democrat. A second Democrat died and by pretending that they would not run a candidate, the Republicans threw the Democrats off their guard, organized secretly and brought out a candidate at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and succeeded in electing him to the vacancy in a Democratic district. This broke the tie and the agony is over and Logan will succeed himself for six years, making his third term in the United States Senate from Illinois.

The Commencement exercises of Logan Female College, Russellville, will take place June 3rd, at 10 A. M. There are four graduates, to-wit: Miss Lerlie Rhea, Miss Florrie Bibb, Miss Lula Caldwell and Miss Bessie Long. The address to the graduates will be by Gov. Knott.

Sam'l Anderson who murdered Wash Osborne twenty years ago, at Williamson, Ky., has returned voluntarily to stand his trial, having been a fugitive all these years.

At Dixon, Jas. Early ambushed and killed Thos. Baker, who had reported him to the grand jury for violating the local option law.

A section hand named Roberts was killed by the cars near Anchorage.

OLD TESTAMENT REVISION.

Some of the More Important Changes Made by the Revisers.

Among the lighter touches of the revision of the Old Testament are those that occur in the well known passage which is here given as revised: "But I know that my Redeemer liveth and that he shall stand up at the last upon the earth, and after my skin has been thus destroyed yet from my flesh shall I see God, whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold and not another."

Another well-known passage in Ecclesiastes becomes: "Remember also thy Creator in the days of thy youth, or ever the evil day comes, or the years draw nigh when thou shalt say I have no pleasure in them." The change here is: "Remember also," for "Remember now," with another variant, "or ever the evil days come," for "while the evil days come not."

The alterations in the case of Genesis have already been given, and for the sake of comparison the two concluding verses from the Old Testament may be extracted from each version. The authorized runs thus: "Behold, I will send you Elijah, the prophet, before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord, and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest he come and smite the earth with a curse." The revised renders it: "Behold, I will send you Elijah, the prophet, before the great and dreadful day of the Lord come, and he shall return the heart of the fathers to the children and the heart of the children to the fathers."

Among the minor changes may be quoted "The foolish scorned the guilt offering, for the fools make a mock at sin." The witch of Endor now sees only a God, not "gods ascending." In Proverbs a "naughty person" becomes a "worthless person." "Wine is a mocker and strong drink is raging" becomes "wine is a mocker; strong drink a brawler." In Daniel, "As stoned for awhile" is used instead of "as stoned for one hour." The substitution of modern words for Archaic expressions has only taken place where the word was not only obsolete, but to the public unintelligible. "Coat of mail," for instance, is substituted for "brigandine" in Jeremiah li, 3, where the Almighty promises to raise an army against Babylon "and against him that lifteth himself up in his brigandine." For the word "cockatrice" there is given "basilisk" with "oder" as marginal alternative. The "wimples and the crisping pens" mentioned in Isaiah liii, 22, have altogether disappeared. "Emeralds" in I Samuel vi, 6, makes way for "Jewels." "Habergoen" is rendered in Exodus xxiii as "coat of mail" and in Job xlii as "the pointed shaft."

The connection of America with the revision remains to be noted. It is explained as follows: In the preface the revisers have already made some progress, and had in fact, gone twice through the Pentateuch before they secured the cooperation of the American Old Testament revision company. The first revision of the several books was submitted to the consideration of the American revisers, and except in the case of the Pentateuch, the English company had the benefit of their criticisms and suggestions before they proceeded to the second revision.

This second revision was in a like manner forwarded to America, and the latest thoughts of the American revisers were in the hands of the English company at their final review. In every instance the suggestions from the American revisers were treated with the same consideration as those from the members of the English company, and were adopted or rejected on their merits. The preface adds that those points on which there was ultimate disagreement, are placed on record in the appendix, filling sixteen pages. The American emendation so recorded, are chiefly directed towards modernizing the translation by the omission of obsolete forms both of language and spelling.

It is asserted that America has raised the most remarkable family in the world, when weight and size are considered. Statisticians acquainted with the averages of thousands of persons of different nationalities affirm that the Howard family, of Kentucky, have never been equalled. The following table, which gives height and weight of each member of this family, may be relied upon as being accurate:

	Feet.	Inches.	Pounds.
Father	6	4	280
Mother	5	0	285
Thomas	6	4	230
James	6	6	215
Sarah	5	2	165
John	6	11 1/2	296
Mary	5	2	150
Eliza	6	3	210
Matthew	6	4	230
El	6	0 1/2	207
Daughter	6	3	160
Total	70	0	2,798

The father and his six sons were able to lift 9,500 pounds! Many of the grandchildren of this family are 6 feet 6 inches in height and weigh 200 pounds.—Chicago Tribune.

A Philadelphia woman says she was kissed by a ghost at a seance. She probably thought it was a ghost from the odor of spirit which hung about it; though it may be that we shall still have a ghost of a chance to indulge in these labial luxuries after we have shuffled off this mortal coil.—Boston Transcript.

The cloud which darkens a maiden's brow is oftentimes no bigger than a man's hand.—Boston Transcript.

The Casky creamery has made over eleven hundred pounds of butter since May 1st. It has a large local trade in milk and butter and is making regular shipments to cities in the extreme south, besides supplying a number of prominent hotels. This enterprise, now in its infancy, will distribute several hundred dollars per month to its patrons for cream which before its establishment was paid no attention to at all. Every one interested in the creamery is very well pleased with its success, so far.

John Fletcher, the young colored preacher, arrested in Hopkinsville and brought back to this place by Chief Gary, to answer the charge of grand larceny in stealing a watch and some clothing from a colored woman named Eliza Robertson, had his trial this morning before the city court, Maj. Josiah Harris presiding. There were a number of witnesses in the case and some badly mixed evidence. The court gave the accused the benefit of the doubt and ordered his release. Fletcher was then presented on a charge of petty larceny, in stealing two coats from Robertson, and as one of them was found upon his back and its identity proven, he was held and sent to the county jail for thirty days. If Fletcher had not had the coat on he would likely have escaped scot free, owing to the witnesses against him, one of whom could not name the month.—Paducah News.

A female dentist in Oregon is said to have resorted to a novel device to obtain a husband. She had as a patient a handsome man, and one day gave him a dose of ether that confused, but did not make him insensible. Then she sent for a clergyman, and while the subject was under the influence of the drug, the two were declared man and wife. When the man recovered his senses he expressed surprise and some disgust at what had occurred, owing to the fact, not before known to the fair dentist, that he already possessed a wife.

A Deferred Letter.

New Orleans, May 5, '85.

ED. SOUTH KENTUCKIAN:

After a pleasant journey via Nashville, Birmingham, Decatur, Montgomery and Mobile, we arrived in this city of all nationalities, April 27th at 8 p. m.

The next morning at 10 a. m., was convened that mammoth Medical organization, known as the "American Medical Association," in the large and magnificent structure, "Tulane Hall." The meeting was called to order by one of the most distinguished surgeons of the South, Dr. Sam. Logan, who delivered the address of welcome, and was chairman of the committee of arrangements. The meeting was opened with a most fervent and eloquent prayer by the most renowned divine, Rev. B. B. Palmer, D. D. But as the object of this letter is not a report of the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the National Medical Association, which has already been done by much able pens, suffice it to say that after a session of four days full of profit to its attending members, the session was closed in peace and harmony, and the large number of delegates, representing every State and Territory in this broad and now inseparable union, were released from their professional labors, and were free to explore the length, breadth, and depth of this almost endless exhibit of the world's products. After several days spent in studying with as much system as was possible in the midst of such throngs of visitors as are still to be found filling every aisle of every building, your correspondent came convinced that he had not been accounted to the exhibit of our grand old State, by any reporter either verbally or written, whom he has either heard or read, and it is to correct as far as possible the many erroneous statements made as to the extent and quality of her exhibits and render only simple justice to the three much abused gentlemen who represent her as managers of her department in the Exposition that this letter is written.

On entering the department labeled "Kentucky," one, especially a son of the "Dark and Bloody Ground," is at first struck with the apparent smallness of space and the paucity of exhibits, only coal, rock, tobacco, hemp, timber etc. But when he carefully hunts for (they have to be looked for) but he finds them in the building for all the Kentucky displays and examines their merits, he is forced to the conclusion, that were they all placed together in one "space," as is the case with all the other States, that she is second to but few, if not equal to any other State exhibit to be found in the "Government building." The fact is, "a large majority" of the most extensive play display, the largest exhibition of distilled liquors, with the most substantial and beautiful barrels and the most complete distillery apparatus; she has decided the most elaborate machinery for refining kerosene oils. The best lock exhibit and among them the most unique and perfect combination, burglar proof door lock ever invented. This wonderful combination alarm, and if desired, electrical attachment-lock, is the product of a Lexington genius. Her display of leather in every variety is unequalled even by the French.

The exhibit of furniture is not only unsurpassed but not to be surpassed in the world, it is too superb to be looked at by anyone not a millionaire.

Now, Mr. Editor, when you take into consideration the fact that the parsimony of our legislature in only appropriating in the first place but fifteen thousand dollars to cover all Kentucky's expenses in her representation in the Exposition, and secondly that Mr. Proctor should commit such an egregious blunder as to expend eight thousand dollars of this pitiful sum in having old pictures taken, advertising various manufactures, stock-raising, etc., throughout the State, and cover the small space attached to the State with a lot of very poor photographs, that are not worth the room they occupy, even upon the otherwise bare walls of the department; these cost $80,000 and are not worth half as many cents. Consequently only seven thousand dollars in the hands of our Commissioners, Col. Peck, Major Lawrence and Capt. Pearson, have been accomplished by long odds much more than any other Commissioners, with the aid however of individual Kentucky exhibitors, in the Government building, all of whom had more liberal appropriations. They are working without pay, and I am credibly informed that Maj. Lawrence, who is a most untiring, patriotic gentleman, has perhaps drawn upon his personal funds to aid in sustaining the reputation of his State. The Col. is always at his post in charge of the department, ever ready to extend its hospitalities to all visitors and a hearty welcome to all Kentuckians.

Capt. Pearson, who has only his necessary expenses paid by the State, has been and continues to be invaluable in giving information and assistance to all Kentuckians who apply to him either by letter before leaving home, or on their arrival in New Orleans, aiding them in procuring lodgings and all the creature comforts and concerning the Exposition. Though a bachelor, he has a heart overflowing with generous impulses and a helping hand for all Kentuckians even if they are of the female sex, or children. He devotes his time in making visitors from his State in making purchases.

There are several other products showing the enterprise of our State, scattered throughout the Government building but which I cannot just now recall, but I am convinced from considerable study and investigation that Kentucky's exhibit as a whole is equal to any and superior to many. And her people have to be proud of her position among her sister exhibition, and especially to be grateful to her Commissioners for the wonderful success they have accomplished with so little money.

California which has one of the grandest displays among the many wonderful exhibits, has already sent $10,000 additional appropriation recently made by her Legislature to enable her to enter the list of those who will remain for another season, should such a cause be determined on by the general management. The conclusion that seems to predominate as to the repetition next season of the Exposition, is that it will be continued provided the Government will allow its exhibit to remain. Through a grand success as to the arrangement of the exhibits yet it has been a pecuniary failure. A gentleman who has access to the Secretary's office and is in a position to know, informed me that a few days since that officer had completed an exact statement of the receipts up to 1st of May and that it only amounted to $750,000 and the estimate was from the beginning to end that it would require $4,000 per day due receipts to pay out. It is due the city of N. O. $400,000 and the Government $1,300,000.

The receipts on each day set apart to any particular state, being a gala-day, were always increased, for instance, on Old Fellows' day, April 28th, the receipts were $3,600.75. Children's day on May 2nd, was a grand day and the receipts were over $5,000.

The celebrated Mexican Band is always on hand. I think perhaps, I have heard as good a band, but I am certain I never heard a better one. It is perhaps superior to "Gillmore's band." But I must mention one more, grand day—"Louisiana day"—as it was the grandest day witnessed by your correspondent, the receipts amounting to nearly $25,000; yet I am told it has not averaged $4,000 per day from the beginning.

But Maj. Burke, the head, heart and soul of the Exposition, has accomplished wonders as the Commissioner for New Mexico. Prof. Langhammer said of him: "I consider Maj. Burke the Bismarck of the South. As Bismarck in Germany united rival states and principalities into the German Empire, so Maj. Burke has accomplished the union of the states and territories of this nation through the consolidating effects of his good work."

I enclose you a miniature edition of the Times Democrat not for the late news it contains as it was issued last Dec, but on account of the extreme smallness of the type and distinctly readable with the aid of a lense, 14 large pages 24 by 36, consolidated into 8 pages 4 by 6.

In a few days self and party will bid adieu to this land of sunshine, flowers and mosquitoes, for our, to us, more congenial and lovely home in South Carolina.

THE SAYINGS OF SAM JONES.

What the People go Out to Hear.

The following are characteristic remarks made by Rev. Sam Jones in his sermons as reported in the Nashville papers:

If you turn over the children of this country to the homes of the land, nine out of ten of them will go to hell.

It's the tide of worldliness that's playing upon the homes of this city that's ruining it.

There's many a big, fat, well-fed member of the church in this town who will pull down 300 pounds a year, but if he be put on God's scales his weight would not be felt.

Suppose your son gets religion, brother, like you've got it, he'd have religion with a vengeance, wouldn't he? Sister, if your daughter were to get religion like you've got it, wouldn't she turn over the town?

Nashville is rotten at the top. There's where she's breaking down. There's more sin in the highest circles than in the lanes and alleys and byways. May God reform the Judges and Majors and Colonels in this city. There's not one in ten of them that's worth killing.

Some of the best card-players, dealers, and "theatre-goers" in this city are members of the church. At the billiard saloons the church members crowd out the sinners. That's the sort of churches you've got.

"You old Presbyterians," pointing to some man in the audience, "you stand out there laughing when it hasn't been twenty-four hours since you sneaked in the side door of a saloon and took a drink. You ought to be crying. You who keep up these things have got only one more step to take, unless God arrests you, and that is to hell."

You've got men here you think are good; but just take those same men when they are in New York. My, my, my! They are as pious as can be round town, but did you ever go fishing with any of 'em? There's a fishing club in Chattanooga and the members went out fishing lately and took thirteen minnows and fifteen gallons of whiskey.

There isn't a preacher under this tent but who is a better man and a better preacher than me, but I say the gospel of Jesus Christ is inadequate to reach the depths of depravity in this city, or that gospel hasn't been preached here in its fullness, one of the other. [A voice: "Amen!"] That's two amens. [Laughter prolonged.]

These church members are like the trains on the Nashville & Chattanooga Railroads—they shed all their light ahead on their own track and leave a little, old blue light hanging on the rear to the sinners out in the dark.

There are two examples or models in every town that have a bad effect upon the whole people. One is the church member who will pay when he is asked; who will go to church on Sunday, but who won't pay his debts. The other is a sinner who doesn't belong to the church, but who pays every dollar he owes, gives freely to charitable purposes and is generally respected. The sinner comes along, looks at the two and says, "I'd rather be that last fellow."

Now, what do you want to be like any one of them? That's what I want to know.

I am no theologian. I never studied theology. I despise theology and botany, but I do love religion and flowers.

Some of you old church members are still using the two-wheeled engine and the devil is sure to catch you. He has fixed up his rolling stock, and can run a mile while you are putting on your boots.

One person says I can't keep house and be religious; the servants are so provoking. I fear there is sometimes more religion in the kitchen than in the balance of the house. [Vociferous laughter.]

There is one meeting I think the devil don't attend, and that is the average city prayer meeting. I don't think he regards these meetings as at all dangerous. They are not worth while attending. We Christians license liquor selling to lighten our taxes, and then stand around and cuss 'em because they sell it. If half of these Methodist and Baptist would quit drinking, the bar-rooms would close up.

Let the spider-legged dudes have all the fun they can at these hugging matches here, for they will find it too warm to hug while they dance in the next world they will go to.

Some of the newspapers are trying to cry me down. If the newspapers can say any harder things about me than I can say about the newspapers, let them pitch in. This is a free country.

Twelve years ago I consecrated myself to God, and since that time have never had an invitation to a ball.

I know whisky men. I used to mix and drink with them, and I know no bigger hearted men in the world. I can go to a whisky man and he will do me a favor when not a church member will do it for me. But did you know that statistics show that nine barkeepers out of every ten die drunk?

That old colonel, an old cuss, will say: "It's my opinion so-and-so." A dozen young men will hear and go off saying: "It's my opinion so-and-so." They get their opinions from the old colonel, and he gets his from hell. There are too few people who think and too many that have opinions.

I never thought birds sang sweeter or trees looked greener after I got religion. I have heard old church members tell of these things and I thought what a blessed thing to have that kind of an experience, until I read the same sort of an experience in a book, and now every time I hear this I wonder if that fellow has read that book.

I'm honest and pay your debts. There's too many in the church boarding with their wives.

What's culture worth if it's nothing but whitewash on a rascal?

I'd rather be in Heaven learning my A, B, C's than in hell reading Greek.

There were some rich men—these 30 or 40 centers—who, if they ever got to heaven, would not be there three weeks before they would try to buy a money-lending office.

Loved by Ladies.

Ladies love delicate and delicious perfumes. In Parker's Hair Balsam they not only satisfy this taste, but have an article which arrests falling hair, removes dandruff, restores the original color and imparts a beautiful gloss, softness and life. Does not soil the linen, is not a dye, cleanly and economical.

The disgruntled office-seekers are of the opinion that they have found a wet blanket on the government crib. —Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Tobacco Outlook for 1885.

The weather is so un-reasonable in all sections of the North and West, that farming operations are unusually backward, and many tobacco planters are becoming anxious. Last year this time the plants were well under way, but this year a good many have hardly commenced their beds, but it is hoped and expected that when there is a clearing up, fine warm weather will prevail without interruption for weeks, and assist in pushing forward plants to that condition that will insure a sturdy, healthy growth before the heat, parching, winds and intense dryness incident to mid-summer come to endanger their life. Tobacco when properly cultivated in the bed and set out in the field has great "come out," and a few weeks of favorable weather at the opportune time will cause the plants to "shoot up" with surprising speed, and place them well on their road toward maturity. It is not likely that tobacco will be abandoned by any great number of farmers this year for any other crop, for the simple reason that no other crop will pay as well as tobacco, even at the prices ruling this year for white burley—which prices by the way are somewhat improving now—and it is not improbable that there will be considerable accessions to the ranks of those growing dark tobacco and cigar leaf in the north-west.

Planters all over the country now cover their plant beds, either with brush or cloth, (quite generally this year with cloth), and there is not likely to be any scarcity in plants for setting out, which might have been the case otherwise. There is no cause for alarm as yet, but if this changeable, chilling weather prevails for another fortnight, there will be good reason for anticipating trouble in securing a good crop of tobacco this year.

The planters of Virginia and North Carolina have also had some delay owing to the seasons, but not to as great an extent as in the North and West, and it is not likely that they will have reason to lament, unless the weather during the growing season—that is when the plants are out in the field—proves unusually propitious. There has been nothing in connection with their experience as to the 1884 crop to discourage planters of this section, rather much to encourage them, and the 1885 planting in these states will, in all probability, be a large one, though unlike the West, quality is hardly ever sacrificed for quantity. —West Tobacco Journal.

My Crutches Gone.

I have suffered from rheumatism for seven or eight years. For one year I was compelled to use crutches. I tried various remedies, especially every sort of liniment, but none of them did me any good. I saw in the newspapers an advertisement of Swift's Specific, for rheumatism, and resolved to try it. I have taken four bottles. After I had taken it awhile I was enabled to throw away my crutches. I commenced using Swift's Specific last November, and have had no further need for crutches, and I have been able to walk, and would not have a little at times, nor I had continued to take the medicine. My experience with liniments is that they are of but little benefit, and that only temporary. The disease is in the blood and must be eradicated, and that is the reason I took S. S. S. It is the best blood purifier I ever used.

The Youngest Can Use It.

My child, when about one month old, was afflicted with a dreadful breaking out on the side of his face. I took him to the doctor, who did not think there was much the matter, but the child continued to grow worse. The little fellow was suffering so much and was so fretful that we had no rest night or day. We consulted the other physicians and they did what they could, but brought no relief. I felt like I was at a loss, and I was at a loss. I heard of Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator, and I bought a bottle. I tried everything at hand or that I heard of, but without the desired effect. About this time I saw an advertisement of Swift's Specific. It was recommended for skin diseases. I purchased four bottles. The first bottle did him a great deal of good. After using the third bottle the disease entirely disappeared, and the child is now perfectly well. I would recommend S. S. S. as a household remedy. It has brought back health and happiness to my own.

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine for June contains a great deal that will interest its readers. It opens with an admirable article, "Bryn Mawr College," which is profusely illustrated, and which fully describes this new college for women in Pennsylvania. "Old Antwerp," which is also illustrated, is another valuable article, and so is "Through Normandy by Diligence." The serial "A Strange Girl," is concluded; and Jenny Jones contributes a paper on "Trained Nurses and Nursing." These articles, with others of a miscellaneous nature, poems, fashions, and various departments make up a remarkably good number of this admirable magazine. The frontispiece is a fine oil picture, "Butterflies."
